

Most Authentic You: Confidence, Charisma & Assertiveness

Assertiveness

- Sometimes we are too quick to go for impulsive and unhelpful communication e.g. you receive a compliment about your suit, “ah this aul thing, I bought it for tuppence over in Thailand” instead of “thanks, I really like it too”. The latter reply is much more self-appreciating.
- Another important example would be when you are overwhelmed at work. An assertive communication in this scenario would be, “I’m at capacity right now so can’t do this task unless we can discuss moving something else down on the priority list”.

